

AMERICAN DISTILLING

As soon as Prohibition ended in 1933, the competition began to supply the brand new market place with all the whiskey and spirits they needed! Then the key producers were operating as America's most famous whiskey distillers used all these tactics. But in most cases the companies didn't really survive. More commonly, it was the families who owned them who survived, then reinvented the companies after Prohibition.

For example, the label on a bottle of Jim Beam declares the recipe has been "standard since 1795." It's indeed based on Jacob Beam's original recipe, but it wasn't made at all during Prohibition. The Beam family sold the entire distillery and went into fruit farming, limestone quarrying and coal mining.

In fact, the company's name—the James B. Beam Distilling Co. the Jim Beam brand name itself date only to 1934, when Jim (Jacob Beam's great-grandson) reinvented the company

TASTING WHISKY

Using this method you should look for three distinct sets of flavors or tastes in your whisky

1st AROMA / NOSE

* Breathe over your glass with mouth & nose open to allow as much air as possible to reach your olfactory nerves!

Swallow the air, and then slowly exhale and let your mind wander while deciding on the flavors you taste.

2nd PALETTE / TASTE

* Take a sip to your mouth, swirl & "chew" the spirit as you coat the inside surfaces of your mouth, again breathe through, swallow and exhale, again decide on tastes, flavors & textures.

3rd DILUTE & RE-TASTE

* Take the straw in your water glass and put your finger over the top, transport the water to your whiskey glass and drop in. The addition of a drop of water is known as "cracking" the spirit. This allows molecular bonds to break, freeing up a new range of aromas & flavors to be tasted and noted!

Remember that there can be a difference between Tasting & Drinking with friends. When you have an opportunity to try a new spirit, brand or label, try these steps.

American Originals

One off independents

As with the beer business, the market is separating and diversifying in to niche lines and re-introducing old marques from new distilleries!

EAGLE RARE 10 Year Bourbon

Kentucky Straight Bourbon 46 %

Eagle Rare 10 has a subtle yet delicious nose. Upfront strong scents of orange peels and citrus mixed with aged oak

Palate: notes of honey, toasted brown sugar, new oak, and light traces of white pepper are all present.

Finish is medium, the most predominate notes are bubble gum, toffee, and honey. Traces of vanilla & dry leather round out

YELLOW STONE 7 Years

12 Year Rye, 7 Year Rye & 7 Year Bourbon
52.5% ABV

Limestone Branch Distillery

This is one of the newly released blends of purchased whiskies to create a brand without a distillery, which is no different than most Scottish blenders & independent bottlers, and something we see more and more coming into the market from!

NOSE: Corn Caramel Spice, Dark Fruit, Vanilla TASTE Wood Caramel, Toast FINISH: Long Corn, Leather, Candy sweet

WHISTLE PIG 10 YEAR RYE

Whistle Pig Fam Vermont ABV 50%

WhistlePig is a tremendous spirit and has been ranked by some fancy whiskey ranking people as being the bee's knees. It really is terrific, and it's not only "true" rye, it's made from a 100% rye mash. WhistlePig buys their whiskey from Alberta Premium distillery. This is that Canadian whiskey company, the only whiskey company, making 100% rye mash whiskey. WhiskeyPig buys it and rebottles it on their farm.

HANCOCKS SINGLE BARREL

Buffalo Trace, Kentucky 44.5%

Nose: Apple juice, fruity, caramel. Light.

Palate: Again fruity with apple, grapes. Seems thin and not much beef to it. Not much rye presence or alcohol warm. Pretty mild and easy drinking.

Finish: Balanced to the sweet and fruity. A little toasted oak with mild astringency on the finish.

HIGH WEST YIPPEE KI-YAY

Double Rye Whiskies, Wine Barrel Aged 46%

High West Yippee Ki-Yay is the traditional High West Double Rye getting finished in wine barrels.

The standard Double Rye is a blend of a young (2 years) MGP rye (Midwest Grain Products) and an "older" Barton rye that has a barely-rye-whiskey mashbill of 53%
